

A bit of this and that about Stillwaters Estates this week!

Stillwaters Estates is a beautiful place to live and this photo shares some of the regional beauty that some of our “EB Browning Ave.” folks have. This is Mount Rainier on a recent evening walk through the neighborhood. Lovely sight!

Mount Rainier view from the neighborhood

Gardens are sure growing well right now – with a mix of cloudy/sunny and sometimes rainy days the plants are getting green and the flowers beautiful!

For a late gardener, mine is going good!

Warning for the Squeamish: Snake Photo

This little guy is a regular visitor to my yard and particularly likes my patio when it has been warmed by the sun!

A friend to share my garden with....

Enjoy your week ahead!

Quote of the Week:

Those who are lifting the world upward and onward are those who encourage more than criticize. – Elizabeth Harrison

Happenings this Week:

Saturday, June 21st:

Veterans Museum Plans WWI Centennial Commemoration

The Veterans Memorial Museum will be holding a centennial commemoration of World War I at 2 p.m. Saturday. June marks the 100th anniversary of the start of the first global conflict the world had ever seen. In the span of 1914-18, millions of soldiers gave their lives. The museum is located at 100 SW Veterans Way, Chehalis. Telephone number is (360) 740-8875

Seminary Hill Poetry Walk Coming to Centralia This Saturday

David Underwood will lead the sixth annual Seminary Hill Poetry Walk starting at 10 a.m. this Saturday at Centralia's hillside forest. The walk will end at noon with refreshments. The walk includes about a dozen stops where Underwood will read poems about trees, forests and the majesty of the natural world. The poems are generally short — just a few stanzas each — but they carry unusual power when recited under a sweeping canopy of hundred-year-old fir, cedar and maple. The ninth stop will be in an area Underwood calls the "Woodland Chapel," where several fallen trees serve as benches.

This is a free event. It begins and ends in the Seminary Hill Natural Area parking lot at the eastern edge of Locust Street. The poetry walk covers about a mile at an easy pace, and should be accessible to all who are ordinarily mobile. For more information email goseminaryhill@gmail.com. Learn more about similar activities at facebook.com/SeminaryHill.

This and That – Stillwaters Estates! | 3

Saturday, June 21st: Tenino Farmers Market, 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Tenino Elementary School, 301 Old Highway 99, Tenino, (360) 515-0501, market@teninofarmersmarket.org, www.teninofarmersmarket.org

Tuesday, June 24th: Chehalis Farmers Market, Tuesdays through October. 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Located on Boistfort Avenue in Chehalis.
<http://www.communityfarmersmarket.net/>

Weather:

The forecast is for warming weather (high 70s) this weekend. There is a slight chance of rain next week but most of the next seven days will be in the 70s. Here's an interesting fact. Fifty years ago today the weather was raining and called drizzly. I will take today's weather thank you!