

A couple weeks ago I wrote about resolutions and this certainly seems the time of year most of us think of renewal and change. Why should this be any different for Stillwaters Retirement Community. The Gathering Place is currently undergoing renovation and soon you will see new paint, new carpet and a new speaker system. We will start off the new year with changes and improvements for the benefit of all who live in this lovely neighborhood. As a resident here you can access the Gathering Place (when not under renovation of course) 24 hours a day and enjoy reading, games, puzzles or even use of the exercise room. It is a nice place for either the solitude of a good book or the social aspect of TV or games. The room is also available to resident to rent for parties, gatherings and other big events that require more space. It is a great room to “Gather” in for residents.

Renovations are underway!

Quote of the week:

The only way to make sense out of change is to plunge into it, move with it, and join the dance. – Alan Watts

Happenings this week:

Saturday, Jan. 24th: Northwest Wind Symphony Will Highlight Jazz at Winter Concert. The Northwest Wind Symphony will be performing its winter concert at 7 p.m. Saturday at Corbet Theatre on the Centralia College Campus. The theme of this concert is “All That Jazz.” Admission is $12. Tickets may be purchased at the door or at Book ‘n’ Brush in Chehalis. For students, admission is free. More information about the concert program is available at <http://goo.gl/RHwh6l>.

Get Ready for the Superbowl! Sunday, February 1st! We will have a  Super Superbowl Party here at The Gathering Place. We had lots of fun last year celebrating the game together so let’s do it again. More details in next week’s blog.

Weather:

The National Weather Service says rain through Saturday and then sun and clouds for several days after that. Sounds like a mild week in the Pacific Northwest. Here is a picture of the weather at Mt. Rainier – just to add an element of comparison for us this week!
