

This will be a short blog this week as things have been VERY busy here in the Stillwaters office. Today was a typical day of people coming in to see our homes, residents coming in to conduct business, contractors in to do work and the phone is ringing!

In the middle of all this going on we had two small birds fly in the building and it was quite the riot getting them out. I ended up having to capture one in my hands to put him outside (ask me what little baby bird pecks feels like). All in a days work right!

Sherri and I take photos around the neighborhood and for the hundreds we have in our archives I bet we haven't published but a handful. Here are some recent photos of the neighborhood:

Brilliant Clematis at a
Stillwaters residence.

Beautiful Iris

View from Stillwaters Overlook

We even have homes for birds!

Red-winged Black Birds at the pond.

Backyard abundance

Quote of the Week:

It is not so much for its beauty that the forest makes a claim upon men's hearts, as for that subtle something, that quality of air that emanation from old trees, that so wonderfully changes and renews a weary spirit. – Robert Louis Stevenson

Enjoy the sunshine while it lasts! More next week.